CASTING OFF FOR ADVENTURE—four Elk Point Boy Scouts and their companions launched their laden canoes in the North Saskatchewan River Monday, en route to North Battleford. This is the second annual canoe trip for three of the Scouts, and the first time down the river for the fourth.

Scouts depart on canoe trip

The song their paddles sing will be one of adventure for four Boy Scouts and their flotilla of parents and leaders, who set out by canoe en route for North Battleford, Saskatchewan, via the North Saskatchewan River, Monday morning.

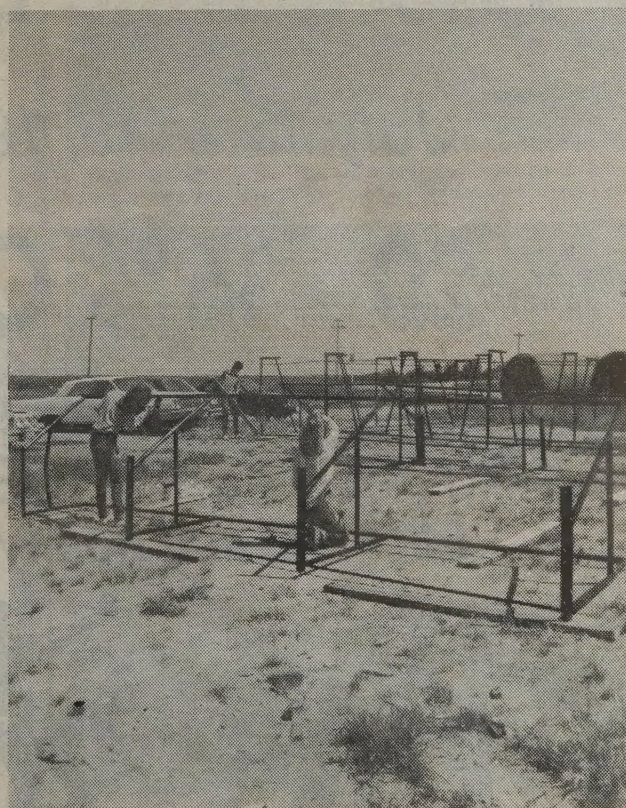

Bag after bag of gear and groceries was carefully encased in plastic and stowed in four canoes and one motorboat, by the travellers and the collection of family members who had come to the river flats beside Elk Point Bridge to see them off. Rubber boots and life jackets were donned, paddles allotted, first aid kit, bailing buckets and cameras safely stowed on board.

Finally, all was ready, and the eager crew climbed aboard their craft, pushed their way into the swift and muddy river, and headed eastward into a stiff headwind, the calls of 'have a good trip' and 'be careful' following them.

Monday's goal was a point between Heinsburg and Lea Park, while Tuesday, the amateur voyageurs plan to reach the Meridian Bridge, south of Onion Lake.

Their final destination, which they expect to reach by Sunday or Monday, is the historic Battlefords, where, despite a week on the water, they plan to head directly for, believe it or not, the waterslides!

Scouts David McNamara, Dean Berg, Darren Pilisko and Cameron Zarowny are accompanied on their trip by Scoutmaster Pat Johnson, District Commissioner Roxanne Ringuette, parents Ed Zarowny and Theresa McNamara, and young guest Jeffrey Faithful.

PIER PRESSURE—the final touches of new paint are quickly added to the completely refurbished piers due to be installed at Whitney Lake later this week, in preparation for the series of swimming lessons sponsored by the Elk Point Lions Club, in conjunction with the Red Cross, which start July 17.

Chamber breakfast a huge success

Reports of a very successful Canada Day Pancake Breakfast, and a reasonably successful beerfest and dance, were given at last Wednesday's meeting of the Elk Point Chamber of Commerce.

Approximately 1000 people were served at the breakfast, Treasurer Steve Wolanuk told the Chamber, with costs approximated at $500. Thanks go to Steve Ference for the use of his grill for the event. It was suggested that use of a second grill would shorten the lineups, and this will be looked into for future years, as will the serving of pork sausage rather than kobassa. Ed Buck reported that the final visitors were served at approximately 10:45, long after the proposed cut-off time of 10:00 a.m., and that more help could have been used in the cleanup process.

A profit of nearly $1400 was realized at the July 2 beerfest and dance hosted by the Chamber, in spite of a smaller than anticipated turnout, Committee Chairman Dave Yake reported. This figure includes a grant which has allocated to the Chamber due to the Chamber's 50th Anniversary this year.

The recreational vehicle campsite arranged by the Chamber for the long weekend was poorly patronized, the Chamber was told. Thanks go to Amoco for the use and installation of snow fence along the railway track, and to the Town for their assistance in obtaining use of the site, and provision of garbage barrels.

With less than anticipated returns from the evening function, discussion turned to budgeting for the operation of the Tourist Information Centre. The Centre opened July 2, and is open from 9 to 9 daily. A meeting between Tourism Committee and Finance Committee members will be held to determine if funds will stretch to permit these hours throughout the summer.

Sid Holthe told the Chamber he is planning a visit to Elk Point, South Dakota, on his holidays later this month. The Chamber will send an information package and letter of greetings to their Chamber of Commerce with him.

A letter received from the Deputy Minister of Tourism indicates that a steering committee has been set up to evaluate tourist information centres throughout the province. Signing, location, services provided, period and hours of operation and provisions for staff training will be among the criteria used by the committee to rate the centres.

Drobot to run for final term in next election

MLA John Drobot intends to run in the next provincial election for the third and last time.

"I'm going to let my name stand for one more time," Drobot said last Friday. "I feel like there are projects and things I'd like to see accomplished yet and I'm going to put my best effort to it."

Drobot outlined paving of secondary roads, the school and labor Acts that are keeping him involved.

Drobot plans to retire on his farm after the next term, if he wins the election.

He said "there are always aspirants" that may consider running against him for the PC nomination.

"This is good, it's democracy," Drobot said, although he added he is confident he will win the next election.

True or False?

Q: Most drownings occur when people are swimming?

A: False! The majority of all non-boating drownings occur 10 feet from shore or safety.

Memorable year for Ukrainian dance

By Margaret Bavduza

The last performances of the Elk Point and District Ukrainian Dance Club for the 1987-88 year have been completed. We've finished with participation in spectacular dances with hundreds of dancers, and with medal winnings in competition.

The first from our club to dance with hundreds of others were our Group 2 dancers. They danced at the half time ceremonies of the All Star Football game on June 23 in Edmonton.

The senior girls (from Groups 3 and 4) were next, with a rehearsal of the opening dance for FESTIVAL '88 on the evening of June 29 at the Northlands Coliseum. The next day all the rest of our dancers were in Edmonton for more FESTIVAL rehearsals all day on the 30th. That evening, the FESTIVAL '88 Dance Extravaganza featured several outstanding dances with hundreds of dancers performing. Then, nearly 3000 dancers ran hand in hand on stage for an unforgettable performance in the world's largest Hopak.

On July 1, after arriving home from FESTIVAL '88 around 2:00 or 3:00 a.m., we were all dressed and smiling to take part in the Elk Point Canada Day celebrations. For our youngest dancers, Groups 1 and 2, this was the last performance. Groups 3 and 4 still had a competition to go to.

The Vegreville Pysanka Festival features, among other things, dance competitions. On the morning of July

2, our Group 3 dancers placed second with their Branch Dance in the category of girls aged 14-15. That afternoon, our Group 4 dancers performed their Hopak in the mixed group aged 16-18, and they too won silver medals. The winners of the Saturday competitions were invited to perform again the next day in Edmonton, so we all went back to finish our year with performances at the Agricom on July 3.

We have now finished an exceptional and memorable year. On behalf of all the dancers, I want to thank all the parents and friends who drove us to practices and performances, made costumes for us, and generally made the year possible.

Pioneer Circle committees appointed

by Irene Magnusson

The June Pioneer Circle Directors' meeting, postponed from the 14th, was held on the 21st, with eighteen members present. Minutes were dealt with, financial statements read and accepted. The Campsite Care work was discussed, and two persons agreed to do the work of cleaning it up for the coming month.

It was reported that a total of $83.70 was cleared from the Father's Day Tea, held June 18th.

Marg Clark, 2nd Vice President, has resigned. Nominations were called for, with Anne Buck accepting the nomination. She is now the 2nd Vice President.

Some discussion followed, on the need for Sports Directors, etc. Grace Barwick, Secretary, then read out a list of committees required, and volunteers for the various committees were called for.

With some persuasion, Directors were appointed or volunteered for the various committees as required. These are: 1. Sports Committee: Mary Prusak, Helga Vaughn and Lena Kuziw. 2. Games Committee: Mike Palinka. 3. Catering Committee: Doris Capjack (she will ask others). 4. Social Convenor Committee: Doris Capjack, Bess Jendruk, Violet McFadyen. 5. Entertainment Committee: Violet McFadyen, (suggested—Virginia Smereka and Elizabeth Zarowny). 6. Advertising Committee: Grace and Ron Barwick, Irene Magnusson. 7. Telephoning Committee: Lena Kuziw, Olga Tomkow, Lily Sass, Mike Palinka, etc. 8. Typing: will ask FCSS? 9. Membership Committee: Grace Barwick has membership cards, however it was urged all members promote increasing the membership, ask friends and others who may not have thought of joining. Membership fees are only $5.00 annually, and a larger membership increases the benefits to all.

A request from some donors for return of Building Fund donations (since building plans have been put 'on hold' for the present) was tabled, until the fall meetings commence, as it was felt the building plans are not entirely out, and more time is needed for consideration. Some avenues are still being explored, and a 'cancel everything' decision should not be made hastily. This was agreed to.

It was agreed not to put 'prize money' into the whist games, and continue to have them carry themselves, as before.

A 'Needs Survey' has been received from the Recreation Board, and will be completed by Grace Barwick, and returned immediately. An invitation has been received to attend the opening of the new park at Stoney Lake, as well as the Rodeo to follow.

ACA dues for the year were due, and it was agreed to pay these. The invitation to visit the Seniors' Centre at Smoky Lake was discussed, and thoughts given to hiring a bus, depending on how many would wish to go. This will be brought up at the next bingo (Wednesdays).

The annual donation of $100 will be given to the Canada Day Committee, from the Bingo Fund. The Entertainment Committee will find members to carry the banner in the Color Party. No one seemed anxious to prepare a float for the parade.

Next meeting is scheduled for September, a full all-members meeting, however, there may be plans to make for a Heritage Day Program, so a special meeting could be called, unless the committees are able to handle it.

Hire a student

Are you facing a summer of drudgery? Lawns that seem to grow faster than you can cut them, shrubbery that threatens to take over the yard, paint peeling off buildings and fences so fast it looks like snow fluttering down? Your garage is stuffed to the doors, and your basement is leaking litter upstairs?

Or maybe your office staff is gone on holidays, the typing, filing and billing is falling behind, there's no one to answer the phone, and you're trying desperately to cope alone?

Possibly you run a business that depends on good weather to get things done, but of course that's when all your workers want to head for the lake for their two weeks of leisure. How will you manage to meet your deadlines?

Maybe it's YOU that is heading for the lake, but your cat has no urge to go along. Who will dish out the Vittles and top up the water dish while you're gone, not to mention watering the aspidistra and checking to see that the last thunderstorm didn't put the deepfreeze out of commission?

What to do?

You COULD hire a student. Elk Point's Hire-A-Student office has a number of responsible young people available for both skilled and unskilled jobs, whether those jobs last an hour or all summer long. The Hire-A-Student staff are trained in matching up the needs of employer and employee, for maximum satisfaction to both.

They even have a specialized Odd Job Squad, to take care of those little jobs that you may feel are too small to bother anyone with, yet you're not sure when you'll ever get around to doing otherwise.

Hire-A-Student—they're here to help YOU. Call them in care of the Town Office, 724-3910, on Thursday afternoons, or at 645-6019 during the rest of the week.

You'll be glad you did.

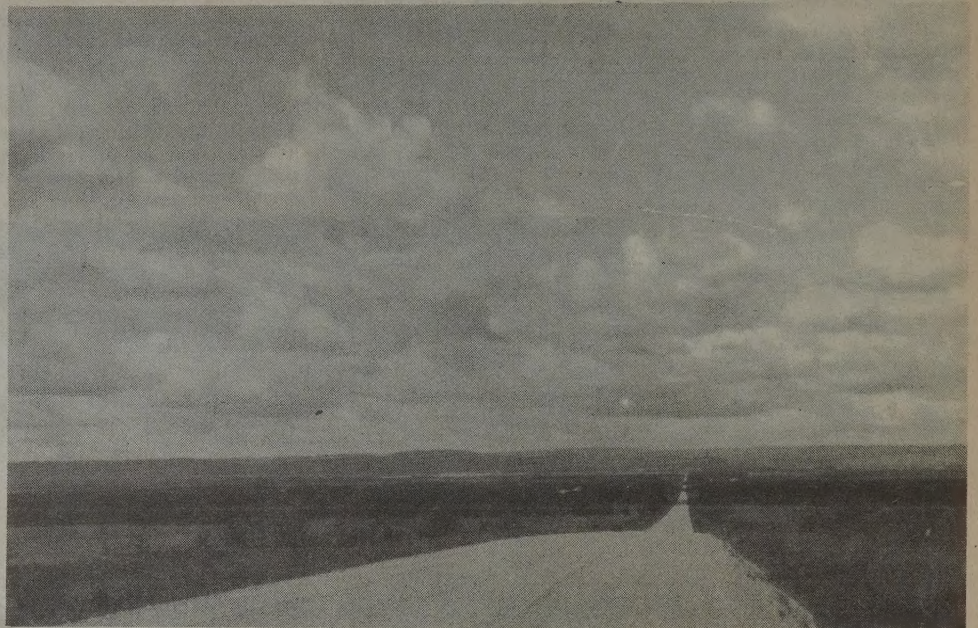

Hearts of gold

Air Canada and the Canadian Community Newspaper Association are still looking for those Canadians who make our lives richer with their good deeds and helpful ways.

However, time is running out in the contest. All entries must be returned by July 31, which means we would like to have your nominations in our office by July 27 so we can mail them in, in adequate time. Nomination forms are available at the Lakeland Review.

Don't let this chance to recognize the folks you know with a 'Heart of Gold' slip by—nominate someone special today!

Back to home base

By Irene Magnusson
Alberta Trails

So—who says there's no adventure left in life? Maybe all we have to do is go ahead and invent some.

I am home, safe and (at least physically) sound, after surviving another large-sized Family Reunion, driving a thousand miles with the only damage being one headlight knocked out on my car.

The Family Reunion, as I have been mumbling for weeks, was at my son Mel's farm in the Fairview area. It was to last three days, and in a rain drenched territory such as the Peace River Block, we were very pleased to have two gorgeous warm, sunny days out of the three, with only mild drizzle and clouds over half the third day. So we felt the gods had smiled on our gathering.

Mel and Aline have acres of level, clean, well-grassed farm yard, junk all picked up and tidy. The only flaw was that old Mother Nature has seen fit to pour all the accumulated rain (which should have been shared with our area) onto the flats of the northwest part of Alberta, so their grass grew to a first-rate hayfield, and they have spent every dry moment cutting patches in it, for our camping comfort.

But with one new mower, and the loan of another riding model, they were able to shave down the green growth on enough space for the campers, the ball games, the horse-shoe toss grounds, and plenty of space in the centre for all to gather around the fire for the wiener roasts.

Of course, I, the dreaded mother-in-law, would be the first to arrive, complete with the idea that (since I had experienced a Family Reunion planning and execution) I might be able to help out a bit.

Arriving in the pouring rain, at 3:30 p.m., there was very little I could do the first day, except help sweep out the large machine shed/shop they had decided must be emptied and readied, in case it DID rain all weekend. Already devoid of most of the larger pieces, we continued cleaning it out, and I was pleased to note the large barrel-type heater in the corner, and all those wood scraps ready to blaze away in the cool of evening or an all-day soaker.

We picked up nails and filings with a magnet, and swept, then vacuumed, tidied his shelves and cabinets, made benches along the sides, carried out lawn chairs, made sawhorse tables and covered them with rolled paper. They set out the massive coffee-maker they'd rented for the occasion and filled it with water. Mel created a make-shift basin, with an old sink, over a barrel, with water hose connected on an outdoor wall, useful for washing mud off fallen kids and such.

Meanwhile the rains fell. The yard—already fully saturated—showed small lakes forming in every spot lower than its surrounds. I went over to see how full their dugout was (all Peace River residents are dependent on dugouts for water supplies, as there is no under-the-surface water for wells, as there is here). Walking across the mowed grass, toward the raised rim of the dugout, I found myself in two inches of water, oozing up over my shoes. And, yes, the dugout was full—in fact, one could say the dugouts up there are 'heaping full!'

Next day, it was still drizzling, so I vocally arm-wrestled Aline for a job (she was determined I was a pampered guest) (while I had gone early purposely so I could help a bit) and she finally weakened and allowed me to do the floors (so I wouldn't be bored.) She was busy baking and arranging and shopping and so on and so on—and in fact cooked enough food to feast us all in grand style for days, even though most of us were to support ourselves and most did. (Not I, of course, since I am the Mother figure, I am supposed to be pampered unmercifully.)

By noon the rain stopped, a howling wind dried things up fast, the pools receded, and I coerced Mel into bringing out his new mower before he took off on the first of many errands. The lush and abundant quantity of the grass makes bagging it a must, so I (who never bag my clippings) did the front lawn and among the many trees, at the same time unhooking and emptying that heavy wet bagful of grass at every round. It weighed about forty pounds when full. Fortunately, they have an old pit there to pour it in. I tried putting it in the truck, as they were doing, but that was hopeless with my short weak arms.

It sure looked nice there, after, with the roses so full of blooms that they hang to the ground, the huge six-inch peonies also, and all that sweet rocket and larkspur along the edge, babies' breath, dahlias and so on along the front, and the rows of pines and lilac behind.

Before night fell (which it almost never does in June/July up there) people started arriving, Mel's kids first, then my brother from Montreal with a big motorhome.

July 1st dawned clear, grew hotter all day, a glorious day for anything, but great to greet family we'd not seen in months, some not for years, some never before.

We had visitors from Edmonton, Sangudo, Calgary, Elk Point, Montreal, Worsley, Sointula, Sardis, Castlegar, Fruitvale, Pouce Coupe, Fort St. John, Hines Creek, Fairview, Seattle, Coaldale, Lethbridge, Victoria, Spokane, Dapp, Winnipeg, Red Deer, Port Hardy, Riley, Langley...and probably other places I can't remember.

One hundred and three signed the guest book—again, some may have missed it. We had three guitars, a banjo, a flute, clarinet and saxophone, together with many voices, as we entered the sing-song times each evening. Someone had photo-copied song sheets of the old faithfuls, in case we forgot.

On the second day, after another clear, sunny warm morning, we all gathered on the greensward, trying to miss the still-damp spots, and between us set Kodak and Fujifilm up for the summer, with our mania for taking photos. Trying to clump up the whole lot was hopeless, as everyone wanted to be on the camera end, but we did our best, being a bit more successful with the smaller individual family groupings.

A few members had to leave by this evening, and so we were somewhat less for the third day, but still enough to make a good showing in the shed/shop, for rain fell lightly most of this day. We ate, sang, talked and played games in the steel shelter, the heater in its corner throwing out welcome heat. From some recess Aline kept bringing out squares, salads, turkey, ham, cheeses, buns, while others brought casseroles, baked beans, watermelons, etc., etc., from their campers or when they arrived from the motels they slept in over in town six miles away. I'm sure we all gained a few pounds! We used up a great many plastic plates, cups and tools, still, from time to time one or several of us would repair to Aline's kitchen, stuff up the dishwasher and then hand-wash whatever wouldn't fit. Absolutely NO shortage of water up there!

We all came away with a 'Family Reunion—Hobden, Arnold, Magnusson' button, Mel and Aline had thoughtfully ordered for the occasion, and at least most of the adults wore home the 'Elk Point' pins I had along.

(My trip home next week.)

Home town girl makes good

By Irene Magnusson

It's always nice to hear someone from the home town has made good out in the big, wide, scary world—and especially nice when it's someone you know well and always 'believed in', whether everyone else did or not.

So I am rejoicing enough to want to share my pleasure on hearing from Ruth Andrishak, former Elk Pointite, daughter of Fred and (the late) Velma Andrishak. Ruth has been off 'East' for sometime, Montreal, and lately, in Winnipeg, trying her hand at writing TV drama, along with her short stories.

From my own observation, writing fiction or articles pays very little, one could starve on the returns, unless you are smart enough and fortunate enough to get into the Blockbuster category—which few of us are. However, anything transferable to the magic of the television screen pays very well indeed. It also takes a lot of long-thought-out writing, re-writing, and rewriting some more.

Radio pays less—but the writer gets the benefit of all this rewriting practice, too.

Having finished her TV story, 'Cowpunk', seen it filmed, and been paid for her efforts, Ruth now has thrown herself into writing a radio script—and so it goes. One thing leads to another.

Ruth's first-ever short story won her second prize in the country-wide CBC Annual Literary Contest. Other stories have seen print in Exile, Prairie Fire, Dandelion and elsewhere—all prestigious literary publications.

Ruth has matured in her work, and is able now to settle down to a task, and carry it to the finish, no matter how frustrating. And, in my opinion, that's the only way to go. 'A job half done may as well have not begun.'

One of Ruth's minor accomplishments is a small illustrated (Ruth is also an artist) book for youngsters (or the young in heart), a tale of Julie, the Wonder Dog of the North, copies of which have been available at Lakeland Review Publishing and Printing, here in Elk Point. We will be seeing and hearing more from Ruth's creative and fertile mind, I'm sure.

Is It True That...

Q: Over half of all boating accidents occur when standing in a small boat?

A: Yes! Standing in a small craft makes your boat unstable. Always remain seated and low in your boat.

Angling in Alberta is big business, as the recent national report, Sport Fishing in Alberta, 1985, clearly shows. The report generated by the federal government, indicates that anglers in Alberta contributed $441.9 million over the course of the year to the province's economy. More impressive still is the fact that those figures are almost double what they were in the last report, released in 1980.

With this increase in business came a leap in the number of anglers in Alberta. But in spite of this 16 per cent increase in anglers, only six per cent more fish were caught in the time between the two studies. Even so, the Fisheries and Oceans study shows that catches of goldeye dropped by 90 per cent, while catches of perch and trout were down by 40 per cent.

What these figures point to is the demand of angling on Alberta's fish and fish habitat. "The results of the 1985 survey of sport fishing in Alberta," said the report, "confirm that it (sport fishing) is a significant form of outdoor recreation and a major user of the fish resources of the province."

Interestingly enough, though, the size and the number of fish were rated as less important factors than water quality and natural surroundings beauty, which suggests that anglers are more interested with the quality of their experience.

To ensure that anglers are able to have an enjoyable and esthetic experience on their outings, the Fish and Wildlife Division of Alberta Forestry, Lands and Wildlife is taking measures to conserve this valuable heritage. Such measures include an increase in fishing licence fees, a new fish hatchery, and the establishment of a new fishing education program, along with continuous regulatory adjustments.

Two recent developments which affect anglers directly are the 1987 changes in sport fishing regulations and the 1988 sport fishing licence fee increase.

Minimum size limits and daily and daily catch and possession limits, are among the changes in trout management introduced in the 1987 sport fishing regulations. Most trout streams now have annual open seasons, with closed periods during the winter and spring to protect the fish while they are concentrated in overwintering pools and during their spawning time. An open season each year helps spread fishing pressure over a wider area and reduces the crowding of anglers.

In the same way, minimum size limits ensure that the fish have an opportunity to spawn at least once and also improves the quality of angling. Similarly, lower daily catch and possession limits serve to spread the catch more evenly between an increasing number of anglers.

As of April 1, 1988, the fee for Resident Sport Fishing licences increased to $7 from $5, with $2.80 of each licence earmarked for the Fish and Wildlife Trust Fund - Buck for Wildlife program. The program, which previously received only $2 from the licence fee - plus donations of money and materials from landowners, organizations and businesses - finances the retention, improvement and development of fish and wildlife habitat throughout the province.

Last year's sale of sport fishing licences contributed more than $705,000 to the Buck for Wildlife fund. The revenue provides a return investment to Alberta's anglers, as it is applied to enhancing and conserving critical fisheries, habitat. It is estimated that this year's licence sales may add more than $1 million to the Trust Fund.

An example of how Buck for Wildlife funds benefit fish habitat is found at the North Raven River. Over a period of 14 years, a fencing project, designed to protect streambanks from cattle grazing and the resultant erosion, has led to a 130 per cent increase in fish in the first seven years after fencing. Conversely, in a section where the habitat was not improved, fish numbers decreased significantly over a period of 12 years.

Fish hatcheries are also playing a large role in helping maintain fish populations. On May 23, 1987, a new hatchery at Cold Lake opened. The Cold Lake Fish Hatchery will raise between 16 to 25 million walleye fry and 200,000 walleye fingerlings yearly; it will also raise two million trout yearly.

With the addition of the Cold Lake Hatchery, there are now five fish culture facilities in the province: two hatcheries, two brood (egg producing) stations and one seasonal trout rearing station.

Finally, the new fishing education program will contribute to better appreciation and enjoyment of the resource. With an estimated 300,000 Albertans involved in some form of angling, and that number appearing to be on the rise, Tom Bateman, Fish and Wildlife Conservation Education Coordinator welcomes the new fishing education program. "I feel this program is timely, and I encourage all Albertans to become involved," said Mr. Bateman.

Overall, it seems that the combined efforts of Fish and Wildlife's programs will maintain and enhance the quality of a sport continually gaining in popularity. In Alberta, the commitment to sound, long-range fisheries and wildlife management continues.

College celebrating 75 years

Summertime. The last thing on anyone's mind is school in the fall. This is not the case for students and staff of Lakeland College who are preparing to celebrate the 75th anniversary this fall.

Lorne Assheton-Smith, resident of St. Paul and Board of Governors Chairman for the college, recently read the official proclamation at several of the regional campuses pertaining to the anniversary of the college. The celebration will officially take place July 1, 1988 to June 30, 1989.

Many events are planned at each regional campus but the main event is the Founding Day Commemoration which will be held at the Vermilion campus on November 17, 1988. The opening of the new Alumni Hall administration building will spark off a day's celebration. It was on this day 75 years ago that the College (then the Vermilion School of Agriculture) was first established.

The celebration will begin in St. Paul on August 13 with alumni and friends invited to an old-fashioned family-day featuring a free pancake supper and dance. Other events will follow throughout the year.

When asked about the college's responsibility to the residents in the area, Assheton-Smith said "Lakeland College is prepared to provide the programs that the community needs".

Decentralized education from the larger centers of Edmonton and Calgary have never been more important than now. Recent cutbacks at the U of A will lower the number of students admitted to their fall programs. A college like Lakeland can possibly pick up the slack and admit more students into their programs.

The Lloydminster campus, presently undergoing expansion, offers a university transfer program. Programs like these take some pressure off the major schools in the province in regards to first-year enrollments.

Lakeland College is the only inter-provincial college in Canada serving both Alberta and Saskatchewan.

Just a little boy

He stands at the plate with his heart pounding fast; The bases are loaded; the die has been cast. Mom and Dad cannot help him; he stands all alone. A hit at this moment, would send the teams home. The ball nears the plate; he swings and he misses; There's a groan from the crowd, with some boos and some hisses. A thoughtless voice cries, "Strike out the bum." Tears fill his eyes; the game's no longer fun. Remember, he's just a little boy who stands all alone, So open your heart and give him a break, For it's moments like this a man you can make. Keep this in mind when you hear someone forget. He's just a little boy and not a man yet.

Clandonald news

By Shirley Osinchuk

After predictions of the driest year on record, we are now facing too much rain in parts of our area, and wind and hail damage, too. The weather comes in extremes this year, leaving everyone uncertain about what to expect.

The good news is that there are many happy people here, too. Susan and Randy Bardeol had a baby son, Ryan, on May 15.

On July 2, Evelyn and Joe Bardeol celebrated their 40th Wedding Anniversary in the Clandonald Hall, with the help of family and friends.

Erica Elliott and David Ockerman were married on July 2 in Vermilion, then celebrated in Dewberry.

Caroline Etherington and Edward Simmons were married on July 9 in Vermilion, and held their reception in the Elks Hall.

Congratulations and very best wishes.

On Wednesday, June 29, the annual Landonville Picnic moved inside the Hall to enjoy a potluck supper, visiting, and kids' races. Outside the rain came down, but no one really minded that there could be no ball game or horseshoe tournament. The rain was very welcome that day.

The Rusylvia Picnic had been postponed from the original date, but was held on Sunday, July 3. Seven fastball teams played. In the final game, the RC Selects from St. Paul beat the Hairy Hill Bisons.

There were also eight slowpitch teams. The final game saw the Cruisers beat Harvey's for the championship.

There will be a Slowpitch Tournament at Rusylvia on August 20-21.

Call Ron at 741-2167 or Mike at 853-2683 to register your team for two days of fun.

Coming soon to our area: the Al-landale Reunion on July 30 and 31, Clandonald Fair on August 5 and 6, and Dewberry Fair in August.

By Michelle Whitlock

We finally received our new music cassettes! The Library has purchased three new cassettes in the Rock Group category: Once Bitten by Great White, Document by REM, and Kick by INXS. In the Male Vocalist category we received Cloud Nine by George Harrison, Akimbo by Kim Mitchell, Into the Fire by Bryan Adams, and Tunnel of Love by Bruce Springsteen. Other tape cassettes include Out of the Blue by Debbie Gibson, Whitney by Whitney Houston, Solitude Standing by Suzanne Vega, and Candices de mi Padre by Linda Ronstadt, all in the Female Vocalist category. We also received our very first children's tape, called Stay Tuned by Sharon, Lois and Bram. This week we also received an exception amount of books in our shipments. Most of the books received in the Adult section were science-fiction written by L. Ron Hubbard and C. J. Cherryh. However, we also received three mystery/detective books: Murder on the Aisle by Mary Higgins Clark, Stories of Suspense by Ross MacDon-ald, and The Evolution of Horror by David C. Hartwell. In the Children's section we received Pirates Ahoy! and Leon's Prize by Parent's Magazine, Wings on Things by Marc Brown, Maybe You Should Fly a Jet by Theo LeSeig, and The Perfect Ride by Lady McCready. The most books, however, were added to the Juvenile section—seven new Time Machine books and ten new Choose-Your-Own-Adventure books.

We would once again like to remind everyone of our Thursday Matinee every week at 2:00 p.m. This week's movie will be D.A.R.Y.L.. We hope to see everyone there!

From across the wide Pacific

By Irene Magnusson

I met Kaoru Miida (pronounced Kowru Meeda) at the F. G. Miller High School Auditorium one evening in early June, where she was showing a number of colored slides of her homeland to a smallish crowd of teachers and friends. Her soft voice barely carried to my somewhat dim ears, but the photos were fascinating, and her commentary interesting.

Kaoru Miida is an eighteen year old student, dark-haired and earnest, but with a ready smile. She had travelled from her home in Nagasu, (a small town, she says, of some 26,000 persons) in the province of Kumamoto, in the southern portion of Japan. Her arrival in late August of last year followed a 9 hour flight from Japan to San Francisco, where she sat in the waiting room for another ten hours with about 100 other students also travelling to schools abroad, before boarding the final flight from San Francisco to Edmonton.

Here she was met by the family with whom she was to spend the next few months, while she attended school in Elk Point.

Garry and Donna Gulayec, with their daughter Jackie, live in the west end of town, and made welcome in their home this student from so very far away, as she acclimatized herself to Canadian ways and worked very hard at learning English.

To learn English was Kaoru's main reason for travelling so far from home, where she was in her 11th grade at school--a grade she will have to repeat when she gets back to Japan.

'I want to get a good job,' Kaoru said, 'and for a good job we need English.' Did she not also require French, or Russian, or...? 'No.' She laughed a little. 'Only English.' And what job does she aspire to?

'I don't know what I will do-someday. I want to do something BIG. But first, I must finish school, then four years at University. Then I will probably teach English for a start.'

Kaoru has one younger sister, who also planned to come to Canada, but has--at least for now--changed her plans. Her mother is a homemaker, and her father works in a ship building plant, where oil tankers are constructed.

Kaoru's activities at home are similar to many students. She plays tennis, swims, goes shopping, visits friends, and studies piano. She is also an amateur photographer and enjoys cooking when time allows. Clothing worn in Japan is similar to that worn in Canada, she said.

A special dish she likes to make is called sushi, containing rice, seaweed, vegetables, and raw fish, all of this seasoned with soya sauce. In Japan, fish is a major food, she said.

On Kaoru's return to Japan, at the end of June, she expected to be met by her father in Tokyo, and her grandparents, who live in Tokyo. They will visit awhile, she thinks, before starting off for home on the fast electrically powered train, which travels about 200 km per hour (about 125 miles per hour), and takes 7 hours to reach her home in the south of Japan. Since Tokyo is situated about halfway between the north and south tips of Japan, this gives some idea of the length of the country. Japan has an area of 142,811 square miles, and population (in 1980) of 117,057,485, and consists of four main islands, with many smaller islands roundabout.

The atomic bombing of cities near her home does not weigh on her mind, although they are told about it in school. To an eighteen-year-old, the wars of the 1940s must seem very far away and long ago.

Kaoru's impressions of Canada were that there are tremendous distances and space. She enjoyed her stay, loved the 'greenery', and all the friends she met, and hopes to return to visit one day.

She felt winter was a bit long--even the mild winter of last year!--not surprisingly, as where she lives, the snow may fall, but would be gone again in a matter of hours. Only in the far north of Japan and on the mountains will there be a heavy build-up of snow.

And I wonder how many of us would like to go so far from home, in a foreign land, to study for a year? I'm sure the Gulayecs, and all those she met at school and in Elk Point, did their best to make her feel welcome and 'at home.'
